

BAKING SHOW

Written by

MATTEHW COWAN

SOCIAL MEDIA SKETCH

INT. WHITE BAKING SHOW TENT - DAY

PRESENTER (V.O.)

It's time for the bakers to show off their technical bakes, and remember, for the sake of being fair, the judges don't know who baked what. Grant is up first, let's see how he did.

JUDGE

Well right off the bat this cake looks absolutely lovely, I mean really stunning. I can't help but wonder who made it?

Cut to Grant who is making it very obvious he made it. He sighs a big sigh of relief, wearing a goofy smile. He nudges others to let them know who made it, flicking their collar up.

JUDGE (CONT'D)

But what's really important is the taste.

The Judge bits down and considers it a second. Grant waits in consideration, fingers crossed.

JUDGE (CONT'D)

Well I must say, it looks lovely, but that really isn't reflected in the taste.

Grant's eye's widen, as he mouths 'no'.

JUDGE (CONT'D)

It's just not up to par really, the crumb is uneven, it's overbaked and dry, plus there no real flavour to speak of...

While this is being said Grant is not happy. He is shaking his head, crying.

JUDGE (CONT'D)

I'd really hate to be the one who made this, but I guess there's no way to know who made it yet.

Cut to a CAMERMAN very clearly in front of Grant with a big camera sticking in his face, slowly making its way closer to him hitting him in the face. Grant pushes it away.

THE END